Ohio Assembly May End Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The legislature hopes to go home today. If so, it will have wound up its resumption of the 1963 legislative session in five days.

Until today, many lawmakers were convinced they would have to come back next week. But now leaders say hopefully that things seem to be falling into place.

The House was to take up the bill which authorized spending of more than half the money from the $250 million capital improvements bond issue approved Nov. 5 by Ohio voters. This bill also would okay encumbering highway, highway safety and other state funds.

Without Negative Vote
As it came out of the Senate Thursday, without a negative vote, the bill would authorize $157.4 million in appropriations. Representatives guaranteed appearance of a $500 million highway bond issue on the May 5 primary ballot by adding their approval (118-8) Thursday to that given by senators Wednesday.

Today, senators prepared to come to grips with a House-approved measure which would allow Ohio to participate in the federal program of Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed until mid-1965.

Also before the Senate are House-passed measures authorizing "Golden Age" housing—Construction, in cooperation with metropolitan housing authorities, of "Golden Age" housing for qualified state mental patients.

—Use of about $8 million of Ohio's nearly $44 million liquor profits each year for research centers and other facilities.

Senate Okays Appropriations Bill

The appropriation measure is the type sometimes called a "pork barrel" bill because of each lawmaker's desire to provide as well as he can for the area he represents.

Intended to provide for higher education, needy school districts, conservation - recreation, maintenance of state buildings and other functions, the measure started out at $119,965,500, but was almost $37.5 million higher in total when it came out of the Senate Thursday.

Included In Adjustments
These adjustments include
—University of Akron, $2,750,000 to $6 million.
—University of Cincinnati, $2,595,000 to $6 million.

Bill Would Authorize County Lakes Funds
A sum of $120,000 for the Highlandtown Lake — Beaver Creek Lake project in Columbiana County is included in the Ohio House took up today.

The bill, which came out of the Senate Thursday without a negative vote, would authorize a total of $157.4 million in appropriations.

—Ohio University, $7,420,500 to $9,420,500 ($200,000 for Portsmouth branch, $100,000 for Chillicothe County branches).

—Ohio State University, $18,752,900 to $26,652,900 ($3.3 million for Lima branch, $3 million Dayton, $2.2 million Mansfield).

—University of Toledo, $1 million to $6 million.
—Youngstown University, $500,000 to $5 million.

—Cuyahoga County higher education, $7,250,000 (not defined, but apparently intended to fulfill the promise of $12 million from the bond issue for higher education in Cuyahoga County).

Other figures in the bill include $10 million for a rotary fund to help needy school districts, $1 million for the State Board of Regents to develop a master plan for higher education, $6,496,500 for Bowling Green State University, $1,578,000 for Central State College, $8,494,000 for Kent State University, $1 million for Lorain County Community College, $1 million for Bowling Green Technical Institute at Rossford, $2,524,000 for Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, $5.5 million for rehabilitation of mental hygiene and correction facilities, $1,380,000 for State Fairgrounds facilities, $2,500,000 for youth camps (State Youth Commission), and $1.5 million for a Highway Patrol academy.

has been asked, but has not yet agreed, to develop—and $750,000 for "Cuyahoga County Technical Center," also in the planning stage.

—Natural Resources Department, $18,650,000 to $18,950,000 (adding a $300,000 Hocking Hills project).

Other figures in the bill include $10 million for a rotary fund to help needy school districts, $1 million for the State Board of Regents to develop a master plan for higher education, $6,496,500 for Bowling Green State University, $1,578,000 for Central State College, $8,494,000 for Kent State University, $1 million for Lorain County Community College, $1 million for Bowling Green Technical Institute at Rossford, $2,524,000 for Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, $5.5 million for rehabilitation of mental hygiene and correction facilities, $1,380,000 for State Fairgrounds facilities, $2,500,000 for youth camps (State Youth Commission), and $1.5 million for a Highway Patrol academy.

The period covered in the authorization is until June 30, 1965.

Bill Passed By House
The only bill passed in the House Thursday (117-3, with an emergency clause to give it immediate effect) would prevent public utilities from delaying payment of their property taxes while seeking lower assessments. It went to the Senate.

Sponsors said such delays, by making a token $1 payment, mean school districts are deprived of needed money until the matter is settled.

The Senate, among other things, completed passage (22-9) of a bill banning public disclosure of financial data submitted to the Development Financing Commission by companies seeking loans to build or expand facilities in Ohio.

A recess was expected during this afternoon's House session to give the Judiciary Committee a final chance to decide whether to recommend a Senate-approved bill on regulation of spacing in drilling oil and gas wells.

Kennedy Murder Report Completed

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were strong indications today that the FBI has completed its bulky report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy without closing its wide-ranging investigation.

Newsman got hints—but not from any official spokesmen, who refused comment—that the report has been turned over to the Justice Department, which will forward it to President Johnson.

The President in turn is expected to transmit the report to the review commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The Warren commission meets this afternoon. Whether it was to receive the report then was not known in advance.

The FBI is understood to have concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, ex-Marine and Marxist, planned and executed alone the Nov. 22 slaying in Dallas.

Warren has assured that the bipartisan body will reach beyond the official findings if necessary to clear up any questions that the FBI and six cooperating agencies have not answered to the commission's satisfaction.

Warren announced Thursday, after a 2½-hour commission meeting that Congress will be asked to arm the group with subpoena power. Congress is sure to respond quickly; legislation already is being drafted.

Machinery was in motion also to equip the commission with staff aides, offices and operating procedures.

The Warren group has full authority, under Johnson's executive order of last Friday which created it, to go beyond a mere evaluation of the FBI and other findings. The order empowers it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

Whether hearings will be held was not decided. Warren told reporters that none of the procedural questions had been settled finally.

Stimulated to be resolved also was the question whether the White House will make public the FBI report before or after the commission studies and evaluates it.

Johnson promised that the findings would be made public in full, but did not say when, and White House press officers have been vague on the question.

Warren told newsmen after Thursday's meeting that the commission still was working somewhat in the dark in approaching what he called its "very sad and very solemn duty" because it had not received the FBI or any other government report.

Lions Club Sponsors Yule Essay Contest

Sharpen your pencils and wits or put a refill in the old ballpoint! The Salem area has a new essay contest.

The Lions Club, which annually sponsored a Christmas lighting contest for the past several years, had decided to drop this event in favor of a two-category essay competition with a Christmas theme.

Dr. Willard J. Stamp, contest chairman, announced today this year's essay topic will be "What Christmas Means to Me."

The contest categories consist of persons 16 years and younger and 17 years and older. Twenty-five dollar defense bonds will be awarded to the winners in each class.

The Lions through this contest hope to encourage people to ponder the true meaning of Christmas. The club plans to make the contest an annual affair if this year's response warrants it.

Essays on this topic should range between 250 and 1,000 words and may be typed or legibly handwritten. Entries should be postmarked before Christmas, Dr. Stamp said, and mailed to Post Office Box 421.

The Lions' committee of Dr. Stamp, William Readshaw and Dale Spooner plans to announce the winners the week after Christmas. The committee is in the process of selecting judges who will be announced later.

The substitution of community Christmas projects was made in the face of dwindling interest in the lighting contest. The Committee indicated the lighting contest may be revived if enough interest is shown. Last year's winner was Henry Lieder of 1567 N. Lincoln Ave.

Membership Losses by Unions Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has put its finger on a sore spot in the nation's labor movement — union membership losses.

And it blames the losses largely on a shift in the nation's job pattern toward more white collar workers, many of whom "have not recognized a need to be represented by unions."

Affiliates of the AFL-CIO, the giant of the labor world with more than 14 million members in this country and Canada, lost 220,000 members from 1960 to 1962, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. There were no specific figures available for 1963, but the declining trend almost certainly continued this year.

LBJ Asserts U.S. Gains Power Edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson in outlining his foreign policy philosophy says the United States must be strong, just, temperate and patient.

Johnson made the statement twice Thursday at separate closed meetings with government officials. White House sources later gave newsmen the gist of his remarks.

The President, who has been having as many as 10 announced appointments a day, slackened his public pace today and announced only three.

Scheduled to see the President, were Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency and secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

The third appointment was ceremonial—presentation of the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor for peacetime service, to 28 men and women distinguished in public and cultural affairs. Two other medal winners said they could not be present at the ceremony in the state dining room.

Another, former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, died Thursday.

President John F. Kennedy conceived of the idea of making annual presentations of the medal to distinguished Americans.

Johnson outlined his view of the appropriate American posture in foreign affairs at a one-hour meeting of the National Security Council—the first in his administration—and later expanded on the subject in a talk before 800 top officials at the State Department.

He told the State Department officials that an increased sense of hope had been developing during the final month of Kennedy's life—partly because of what Johnson called a balance

Shortly after Browning's capture, a second suspect, John Mayo, 40, a transient who formerly lived in New Orleans, was apprehended in a haystack on a nearby farm.

Both men waived preliminary hearing on bank robbery charges and were held under $25,000 bonds each. They were to be taken to Columbus for

Aims for Post Held by Young

Latter Expected To Seek Re-election

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, today became a candidate for the U.S. Senate, where his late father gained national and international renown.

The 46-year-old Cincinnati announced his candidacy to run for the Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young at a news conference. Young has not declared his intentions for 1964, but is expected to seek re-election.

At Least One Challenger
Taft will have at least one challenger, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, for his party's nomination. Brown became a candidate Nov. 5, election night.

Taft is the son of Robert A. Taft, who served in the Senate from 1939 until his death in 1953 and won the title of "Mr. Republican."

Taft said today: "The purpose and challenge of public office lies in its service to those represented and to the entire nation. I hope that my past legislative experience of eight years in Ohio as well as my current duties representing the entire state in the House of Representatives have equipped me to serve in the Senate."

"Yet I fully recognize that the problems which we face today in America call for more in their handling that their mere experience."

Taft said he would detail issues in his campaign, but would hold off for a reasonable time due to the assassination of President Kennedy.

Former Sen. John W. Bricker, defeated by Young in 1958, said last week he would not seek the nomination.

Taft, like his father, began his political career in the Ohio Legislature. He was Republican House floor leader until 1962 when he ran for congressman at large, a statewide race in which he won overwhelmingly over Richard D. Kennedy of Cleveland.

Kennedy, a political unknown who attempted to cash in on a famous name, was disowned by the Democratic Party because of remarks he made about racial matters.

Others who have been mentioned as interested in seeking the GOP senatorial nomination include Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe and John Marshall Briley, Toledo business executive. However, Bolton has said he would not contest Taft and may run for congressman at large if Taft enters the Senate race.

Mrs. Kennedy Moves Into New Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy leaves the White House today in sorrow and bereavement—two weeks, almost to the hour, after her husband was slain in Dallas.

Mrs. Kennedy is taking her children from a goldfish bowl existence to the quiet life of a borrowed home on Street in Georgetown.

She and her husband lived in the area before Sen. John F. Kennedy was elected president in 1960.

When she moved into the executive mansion on Jan. 20, 1961, Mrs. Kennedy's predecessor, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, left a parting gift of flowers in every room.

This time, the White House bears the black drapes of mourning in many of the stately salons. They will stay there until Dec. 22, when the 30-day period of national mourning ends.

Caroline Kennedy, 6, will be coming back every day for a while to attend first grade classes at the White House school, which Mrs. Kennedy founded to give her children privacy and the company of other children their age.

John Jr., 3, will have to find his play pals elsewhere now. And there will be no more visits to the big oval office where his father managed to find time for him despite the awesome burdens of the presidency.

Their new house, lent to them by Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, is a temporary residence for the three. Mrs. Kennedy will look for a permanent home in Washington.

Water From Little Beaver

There's no reason why Salem should not take advantage of the water available in Little Beaver Creek five miles south of here. The 79-acre Eagleton's Glen tract through which the waters flow is owned by the city.

For that reason it was no more than normal procedure for City Council Tuesday night to initiate action to have a professional engineering company make a survey, with recommendations to be made on the possibilities of pumping water into Salem city mains, via the East Cold Run Reservoir.

It's understandable, too, that the residents at state-owned Guilford Lake would take a dim view of the previously-discussed plans of the municipality to try to obtain water, when needed, from the Guilford overflow, although it is unlikely that the state would ever permit the city, or any community for that matter, to actually tap into the lake proper.

Salem has a good surface supply in its East Cold Run reservoir, north of Guilford, but it is "good insurance" to have an auxiliary water supply like Little Beaver Creek.

The original plan when Mrs. Frances Eagleton sold the once noted picnic site to the city in 1963 was that the city would try to restore the area as a natural recreation spot. Although water is the immediate objective, city officials have a moral obligation to some day carry out her wishes.

'All Available Information'

Compared with the way things used to be, before public events were televised and reported instantaneously, public affairs now are an open book.

The only trouble is that the book has become so large, with so many regional additions, that no one can keep up with it, unless it is made a special project. This usually is the prerogative of specialists who get paid for the time required to do the job right.

The rest of us either can wait for research specialists and hope their versions will be correct or depend on official commissions. This is why we are grateful for President Johnson's prompt appointment of a seven-member panel to learn the truth about the assassination of President Kennedy and related events.

Chief Justice Warren will head the panel, which will take the place of competing Senate and House investigations that otherwise would have been instituted and also take some of the pressure off the FBI. This would have been the lone federal agency in position to collect and evaluate information.

The Warren group will be given subpoena power. It will be able to obtain information from the state of Texas, the police of Dallas and whatever other sources may appear during its roundup, besides all federal sources. No one else will duplicate the scope of its power.

It will not choke off investigation by private agencies. It will give U.S. citizens a master version of a national tragedy, something that could not be done in any other way, something that needs to be done as quickly as possible.

Terrorists Didn't Terrorize

One defeat of terrorism at the polls doesn't make Venezuela safe for the democratic process.

But if last Sunday's voting had gone the other way, Venezuela now would be safe for terrorists.

It was as definitive a showdown as this hemisphere is likely to see. Terrorists had flocked in from Cuba. In their hands, Venezuela would be a staging area for Communist infiltration of Latin America. The Soviet Union's interest is not in Cuba for itself but in Cuba as a lever to pry Latin America out of the orbit of North America.

Everything was done according to the classic formula in Venezuela. Cuba sent in secret agents, revolutionaries, terrorists, arms, subversionists—all the gimmicks that have worked well before.

The idea was to scare voters into a state of chaos that would cause the government to be overthrown and keep President Romulo Betancourt from turning over the government to an elected successor—the first time in Venezuela's 15-year history that a chief of state would have served out his term.

The usually reliable strategy failed. The terrorists didn't terrorize. They killed Venezuelans at the rate of one a day during the climax of the campaign, but 95 per cent of the eligible Venezuelans voted on Sunday.

Venezuela is not out of the woods, but neither is it lost to terrorism. That much has been gained for self-determination.

Sharing The Cost

By Truman Twill

College coaches find them where they look for them, in turn — in high schools. It's a process of sifting and sorting, and what finally emerges are the coordinated and skilled men who put on baseball and football spectacles.

So what?

So what else is odd?

Simply this

Universities and colleges keep tapping everybody and everything that sounds as if there might be ready cash inside.

It would be solace to know they are receiving due support from professional baseball and football.

IF IT MAKES sense for corporations to support education to insure their future, it would make sense for the National and American leagues in both football and baseball to shower down a few million to insure their future, too.

Baseball used to spend a great deal more than that on minor leagues alone. It still spends on them because colleges don't go in for baseball the way they go in for football.

But there's no need for minor leagues in football. Gridiron talent goes from high school, to college and into big-league professionalism — one, two, three.

Are the commercial interests behind professionalism paying their share of college costs? It makes you wonder if something is being overlooked.

My nomination for the shrewdest deal since the Dutch horns wiggled the Indians out of Manhattan Island is the way organized baseball and football let colleges develop athletes.

Professional baseball and football are up to their muscular necks in athletes whose development didn't cost them a cent. Thanks to campus athletics, professional baseball and football never need to wonder where their talent is going to come from.

It will come from the same places it has been coming from.

Colleges and universities beat the bushes for the brightest prospects they can find, sign them up in the best deals they can make, teach them all they need to know and get a fair return on their efforts because the really good athletes will be knocking themselves out to win professional contracts.

They are always thinking of the major league scouts in the stands. Their livelihood depend on the impression they make in the locker room when the expert in football flesh looks them over.

COLLEGE CAMPUSES are the incubators and showcases of athletic prowess. Once in a few hundred times a big-time scout finds an athlete on a sand lot. The rest of the time he finds them where he looks for them, on college campuses.

One That Wasn't on the Map

Unanswered Questions

By VICTOR RIESEL

It would have been impolite and impolitic in the past few days to ask Soviet authorities some pertinent questions about Lee Harvey Oswald.

The White House has been desperately and understandably eager to avoid an international incident by appearing to give even the slightest insinuation of an international plot to assassinate John Kennedy. But now the Central Committee of the Communist party, USSR, has changed the rules. It has authorized its newspaper, Pravda, to insinuate that Oswald was a Central Intelligence Agent under President Eisenhower and under the late President Kennedy. Therefore, its time to ask the Soviets some questions which are being discussed in intelligence circles.

The Russians have said officially they denied Oswald Soviet citizenship because he was a "Trotskyite." This means he was declared an enemy of the state — a few days ago. But why was he permitted, back in 1959, to travel freely inside the Soviet Union? This is a coveted privilege. Official permission is needed by foreigners for bus and train travel. Yet he went some 420 miles from Moscow to Minsk.

WHY DID the Soviet employment services direct him to a job? This must have happened. He spoke no Russian then. He read no Russian. He had insufficient funds for such travel.

He must have been directed to Minsk. He must have been assigned a job.

Employment is under rigid control. In the Soviet Union an applicant doesn't exactly get the Sunday papers and run through a list of want ads.

Who vouched for his identity card? Who got him his "rabochaya knizhka" — work permit? Such documents are absolutely necessary — especially for foreign workers.

Without such papers he could not have been hired. He could not have drawn his wages and social benefits. He could not have participated in cultural affairs.

And who approved Oswald's membership in a Russian union. Joining is mandatory, so that central discipline can be exerted. That's why the Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions can claim 26 million members.

If the Soviet authorities believed Oswald to be a "Trotskyite" and an American spy, why did they permit him to associate freely with his fellow factory workers? Such activity might have eluded the secret police for a few weeks but not for over two years.

WHY DID the KGB state security secret police permit him to marry an attractive Russian girl? A few words to her and that romance would have ended quicker than you can say Siberia.

Why was he permitted to quit his job and then travel freely from Minsk to Moscow? True, workers are not yet absolutely frozen to their jobs inside Russia. But few just pick themselves up and leave.

Fewer, especially spies and enemies of the state, could blithely get travel accommodations for such a long haul. And this time, one must envision such a trip being taken by an ex-U.S. Marine and his Russian wife and child.

How did the attractive and sturdy Mrs. Oswald get permission to abandon her job in a land starved for workers. The Oswalds had no money when they got to Moscow. Where did they get the bus or train fare for the journey from the interior?

Finally, how did the alleged assassin get his wife and child out of the Soviet Union? Might a few have accomplished this. I checked this out with an official of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. He could not recall more than four or five such instances. In some of these cases it took years to get an exit permit. Yet Oswald simply put in his request and got immediate approval.

WHAT COMPOUNDS the mystery even more is that Oswald had no skills. Once back in the United States, he lost every job he held. He simply was incompetent. What could he have done inside the Soviet Union for 2½ years which would be worth their paying for? Why don't they make his work record public?

True, President Johnson has been told that Oswald was a misfit, a loner, a desperate seeker of prominence and publicity. True, the State Department has him down in its records as a "fuzzy Marxist."

True, the most authentic reports have it that there was no international plot. But why were the Soviets so kind and why did they offer so many privileges to a "Trotskyite"?

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'll remember this day as long as I live.

Today they came and took my beloved 19-year-old son to jail. As I sank into a chair, stunned and bewildered, my eyes fell on your column in today's paper.

The first letter was from a mother who signed herself "Frantic." She was writing about her 14-year-old daughter who was completely out of control.

Well, the reason my son went to jail is because another mother let her 14-year-old daughter run wild. This girl did not have to be home at any specific hour. She could go out with anyone, any age, anywhere.

When I learned my son was dating a 14-year-old girl I phoned her mother and begged her to keep this child at home. I was told she always had been a problem and that they could do nothing with her.

So please, Ann, advise parents who can't control their daughters to send them to detention homes so the boys will be safe. — HEARTBROKEN.

Dear Heartbroken: I would like to remind you and all mothers of sons that there always will be girls who are not only willing but aggressively seeking male attention.

If mothers raise their sons to respect womanhood there will be no need to worry about a son's being dragged off to jail for immoral conduct.

Wagging Tongue

Dear Ann: A very good friend of mine is a great talker. She can report a trivial incident and make it sound like the most earth-moving epic of all times. In the middle of her dramatic presentation she invariably becomes snagged on a minor detail.

Sample: "And then on Tuesday — or was it Wednesday — no, I think it was Tuesday because Tuesday is the day Molly comes at 9 a.m. No it WAS Monday and not Tuesday. I remember clearly now — or was it Friday?" By then, of course, I've lost interest in what she was saying.

Why do people do this? Don't they realize it doesn't matter an iota to the listener whether it was Monday, Tuesday or Sunday. Please shed a little light. — GNASHED TEETH.

Dear Teeth: Of course this sort of self-interruption ruins a story but it's strange that so many people are addicted to the habit. They actually are trying to settle the point to their own satisfaction. Unfortunately, it's the listener who suffers.

Our Own Masters

Dear Ann: A standing ovation for Bennie. He is the 14-year-old boy who has learned the most important lesson of life — self-discipline.

I saw one boy go from bad to worse, even with the best guidance. Why? Because he wallowed in self pity. He was told he had a miserable childhood, stupid parents and was not taught the proper values. It never occurred to the boy that he could teach himself anything.

I know of another young person who had a far more turbulent life. He lived in orphanages, went through juvenile courts — even jail. This boy soon will be getting his high school diploma through the mails. Then he plans to go on to college. He holds a job and is making his way with no outside financial help.

I hope Bennie and other young people will continue to teach themselves the things they failed to learn from their parents.

I concede, of course, that it's not as easy as blaming the world for our failures but it is immensely rewarding. — D.E.S.

Dear D.E.S.: Thank you for reminding us that if we don't like what we are, we can do something about it, and we can start the "Better Me" program by accepting responsibility for ourselves.

Political Reaction

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The saddest commentary on the fluctuating trends of political thought in America is the way the politicians themselves have been reacting currently to the question of what effect the sudden succession of Lyndon Johnson to the presidency will have on Republican chances to win next year's election.

Again and again it is being said that the removal of President Kennedy from the political scene and the presence now of a Southerner in the White House will adversely affect Sen. Goldwater's chances, for instance, of getting the Republican nomination since he was expected to be able to carry many Southern states. It also is even being argued that, because Mr. Johnson has something of a conservative background, it might behoove the Republicans to take another look at Gov. Rockefeller, on the theory that he would present a "liberal" image to the voters.

The mere mention of these arguments emphasizes a misconception. It's that the country is presumed to have suddenly lost its basic attitude on public questions and that the eulogies about a departed president represent a turnabout in political fundamentals. Congress itself, it will be noted, gives no signs of such a change.

President Johnson, of course, has not had an opportunity as yet to express himself in detail on some of the major issues of the day. His pronouncements have been necessarily general and implicit rather than explicit. He himself hardly knows just what alignments he may face on certain issues.

THE REPUBLICANS, however, know as much today as they have known in the past two years and 11 months about the policies of the administration elected to office last time. They know the vulnerable points in national politics. While political speakers cannot with propriety blame a man who has passed from this life, they can insist on defining to what extent President Johnson apparently agrees with or digresses from previous policies.

During the Senate debate on civil rights, for example, the President will be confronted with arguments on which he will have to take a public stand. The politicians will be watching to see what electoral votes may be affected by any position adopted by Mr. Johnson. The facts about the election of November 1960 have not vanished from political recollection. It will be remembered that, even though Mr. Johnson was put on the ticket in 1960 by Mr. Kennedy in order to gain strength in the South and in border states, the electoral votes of Florida, Virginia, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Tennessee, along with half of Alabama's votes — a total of 65 — were not cast for the Democratic national ticket. None of this had much to do with personalities, but did have a good deal to do with basic issues.

One thing seems certain. At the polls in 1964 the opposition sentiment of many citizens will be recorded on several policies identified with the incumbent administration in the last 35 months.

THE NEW PRESIDENT will have to champion or oppose these policies in detail in the interval between now and the November 1964 election.

It all boils down to one point — issues are more important than personalities.

The Republican party is being told it must readjust itself to a new political situation. If that means the party will ignore the basic trends in governmental policies which have produced substantial opposition in all sections of the country, then the Republicans and conservative Democrats might as well throw in the sponge. Their restraining influence — often the true value of an opposition — would disappear.

The American people are deeply interested in fiscal soundness. The citizen wants to know whether his dollar will lose purchasing power. He is afraid of inflation. He has to be convinced that $100-billion budgets and continuing deficits are just statistical phenomena and cannot possibly hurt him.

Civil rights is a phrase with emotional overtones. Everybody is for justice and equality under the law, but not everybody is in favor of promoting people or hiring them in preference to others just on the basis of race.

Discrimination has been found in both directions in recent months. This is a growing issue in many plants and factories and stores.

WHAT Republican can forthrightly state the opposition case and point to constructive alternatives? Who can really mobilize the opposition sentiment which has not been insignificant in the last two years?

The answer doesn't seem likely to be found by looking for a Republican presidential nominee who has a colorful personality and makes a good impression on television.

Maybe the coming campaign will be a striking exception to the superficial rules of American politics. Maybe the Republican convention will pick the man who can best express the true sentiment of his party and of the many voters who in recent years have been crossing party lines because they care more about fundamental principles than they do about slogans or the glamor of political personalities.

Today is Friday, Dec. 6, the 340th day of 1963. There are 25 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1643, Capt. Thomas Pride arrested or excluded all Presbyterian and Royalist members of the British House of Commons prior to the trial of King Charles I. The act is known as "Pride's Purge" and the remaining members were called the "Rump Parliament."

On this date: In 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered Haiti and named it Hispaniola.

As your electric needs grow, our engineers will keep pace with ever-improving equipment. For example, higher voltage lines of the future will efficiently carry greater loads than are possible today.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

The investor-owned electric industry is participating in or conducting many projects designed to produce electricity through atomic energy, and to make it economically feasible.

Ever since the days of Thomas Edison the nation's investor-owned electric light and power companies — like us — have been using research and development to bring you better and more economical electric service.

This has benefited everybody. One result is that, on the average, people today pay less than half as much for a unit of electricity than they did 25 years ago. And electricity is serving you in many ways undreamed of two generations ago!

No matter how fast your uses of electricity increase, there'll always be enough and to spare... produced by investor-owned electric light and power companies like this one!

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Gall

Bender-Gall Vows Exchanged In Church

St. John's Catholic Church at Summitville, was the scene of the Nov. 23rd wedding of Miss Nancy Ann Bender, daughter of Mrs. Bernice Bender of RD 1, Kensington, and the late Norman E. Bender, to Charles David Gall of RD 1, East Rochester.

Rev. Frederick Anzivino officiated at the 1:30 p.m. double ring ceremony as nuptial music was played by Mrs. Josephine Engel.

The altar was decorated with bouquets of pink gladioli and white carnations as the bride was escorted down the aisle by her brother, Larry, who gave her in marriage.

For her wedding the bride wore a white slipper-length gown of satin faille fashioned with molded bodice with bateau neckline, long sleeves and bell-shaped skirt falling from unpressed pleats. Side panels of lace accented with three bows graced the skirt with a pleated back drape falling to a chapel train edged with Alencon lace. A cap of pearls topped with a fabric bow held her shoulder-length bouffant veil and she carried a hem-line cascade arrangement of gardenias. Her diamond centered-cross necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Robert Brinker of Mechanicstown, was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Nancy Gall, sister of the bridegroom, and Peggy Lynn was junior bridesmaid. All attendants wore straight-line velvet dresses with three-quarter sleeves and carried cascade bouquets of gardenias, tinted to complement their gowns. Mrs. Brinker and Miss Gall wore cranberry red and Miss Bender pink.

Serving Mr. Gall as best man was Lloyd Hays of Kensington brother of the bridegroom and ushering were Frank Gall, Larry Bender.

Sponsoring the couple at the wedding were the god parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Canestraro of Minerva. A dress of wintergreen crepe was worn by the mother of the bride and Mrs. Gall, mother of the bridegroom, a medium green wool sheath. Both had centered with a gardenia.

A reception in the church social hall followed the ceremony and the wedding dinner for members of the bridal party and immediate families was at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

Having returned from a honeymoon through the southern states the newlyweds are residing at RD 1, Route 172, Hanoverton.

A graduate of Sandy Valley High School, the bride is employed by the Manufacturing Division of Republic Steel Corp. at Youngstown. Mr. Gall is a graduate of David Anderson by the Ziegler Tire Co. at Hanoverton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gall were hosts at the rehearsal dinner Nov. 16.

Travelers Club Studies Performing Arts of World

In pursuit of the theme, "Performing Arts Around the World," Mrs. George Boeckling presented a paper, "India, the Beginnings of Asian Drama," when members of the Travelers Club met Tuesday afternoon at the Ruth Smucker House.

Topic of the program was "Dance and Drama in the East."

Mrs. Boeckling traced the growth of the ancient theatre in India, showing its impact on the culture of Asia and the Indian concept of music and the dance.

A setting of current Japanese posters, figurines and recorded music provided the background for the joint program effort on the Japanese theatre by Mrs. Robert L. Potter and Mrs. Kenneth Wirtz and presented by Mrs. Wirtz.

The Japanese impression of the theatre was illustrated by a letter from Akane Kitamura, secretary to a Japanese businessman, to Mrs. Potter, telling of the two types of theatre in Japan, the modern and the old still being presented. Miss Kitamura also mentioned the regrettable death of President Kennedy.

"Christmas in the Market Place" will be presented by the Mount Union Players at the Christmas tea and program Dec. 17 at 2:15 at the Smucker House. Mrs. Bryce W. Kendall will be chairman of the tea committee and will be assisted by Mrs. C. D. Harris, Mrs. Vesta King, Mrs. Neil Knowlton, Mrs. A. R. Silvers, Miss Mary Wolcott and Mrs. William F. Wright.

Darleen Rice Becomes Bride Of David Claypoole

Wedding vows were pledged by Miss Darleen Carol Rice and David E. Claypoole in a double ring ceremony Nov. 27 in the First Presbyterian Church of Lisbon, with the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Murray of Guilford Lake Road, and the late Pfc. Billie B. Rice. Mr. and Mrs. David D. Claypoole of North Lima are parents of the bridegroom.

Palms, entwined with ivy enhanced the altar setting, and on either side were large vases of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Davina Gossnell of Brewster, O., presided at the organ and accompanied Miss Mary Ann Jones of North Lima, soloist, who sang, "With This Ring," "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was escorted by her stepfather. She wore a gown fashioned of white velvet. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and long tapered bridal point sleeves. The floor-length skirt gathered into a bustle effect at the back and held by a large cabbage rose of velvet, fell into a chapel train.

A tiered plateau crown of lace and tiny seed pearls held her veil of imported silk illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a pearl necklace, and carried a family heirloom, a handkerchief her great-grandmother carried at her wedding 78 years ago.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Wanda Finnicum of Richville, O. Her gown was of leaf green peau de soie, with softly fitted bodice, scoop neckline and long sleeves. The long full skirt, highlighted by a back panel insert of emerald green, was accented by a bow at the waist. She wore an emerald green crown with a veil and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze mums and yellow pompons.

Miss Ann Wittman and Miss Georgia Monbarren, both of Massillon, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were styled like the maid of honor's, and their bouquets were cascade arrangements of yellow mums and bronze pompons. Both wore crowns and veils of emerald green. All attendants wore the bride's gifts of emerald necklaces.

Flower girls Leana and Lyne Murray, sisters of the bride, wore identical white peau de soie gowns, designed with fitted bodice and long bell shaped skirts, accented by emerald green cummerbunds attached to a large butterfly bow. Small crowns of white leaves and pearls with puffed veils were their headpieces.

Jack Gilliam of North Lima was the bridegroom's best man. Robert Claypoole of North Lima, the bridegroom's brother, and Richard Shramo of Struthers, his cousin, were the ushers.

The bride's mother was attired in a bone and beige ribbon knit suit with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink colored chiffon and gold embroidered dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Frank McKarns of Lisbon, the bride's grandmother, chose a print silk dress and royal blue accessories. Each woman wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Miss Carol Arhos, Miss Jewell Bowman of Lisbon, Mrs. Lee Sullivan of Massillon, cousin of the bride, Miss Charlene McKarns of Hanoverton and Miss Jeanette Smith of Wellsville served at the reception at the church social room following the ceremony.

A four-tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the bride's table. Miss Donna Rice of Leetonia, cousin of the bride, registered the 250 guests from Pennsylvania, Virginia, Youngstown, Poland, Massillon, Canton, Hanoverton, Leetonia and Lisbon. The bride is a 1960 graduate of United High School and a 1963 graduate of Massillon City Hospital School of Nursing. She is employed by the Bacon-Cibula Clinic Inc. of Lisbon.

Mr. Claypoole graduated from Springfield Local High School in 1958 and from Youngstown University in 1963. He is a member of the faculty of Orchard Hill School in Leetonia.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a navy and white checked dress with navy accessories.

The newlyweds are residing at 401 E. Washington St., Lisbon.

The rehearsal dinner party for the bridal attendants was given by the bridegroom's parents Tuesday evening at the Hotel Wick in Lisbon.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruze —

Dear Heloise: Here is a wonderful use for discarded nylon stockings and underwear.

Needlecraft

By LAURA WHEELER

Sew it swiftly — pop this pert apron on for chores. Deep pockets are so handy. Pop-top apron! One pattern piece plus pockets—front, back same. Pattern 843: transfer two 5-inch wreaths, pattern sizes 12-14; 16-18 incl.

Thirty-five cents in coins for this pattern — add 15 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing and special handling. Send to Laura Wheeler, The Salem News, 348 Needlecraft Dept., P.O. Box 161, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N.Y. Print plainly pattern number, name, address and zone.

I use them for stuffing pillows. It's a wonderful stuffer. I buy colored prints and make my little pillow casings about 18 inches square and put a zipper along one side and make a "handle" on the other side of the pillow.

These little pillows are much easier to carry if a person will sew a handle on them.

We don't just use these pillows in the car but we take them anywhere we have to do any sitting, especially when going to baseball and football games and have to sit on hard benches.

For another idea! I made two pillows the full width of the material (which is 36 inches) and stitched them down the middle, thus making two pillow casings 18 by 36 inches long (this makes two 18 inch pillows connected) and put a handle on each end. I stuff it with old nylon hose from both ends and put a zipper closing and handle on each end.

THIS TYPE pillow may be folded when carrying (it looks like a suitcase or brief bag, Heloise), and it's nice for small fry who want to take a nap on the beach or at a picnic.

When using nylon hose just cut them up, discarding the foot part. When using nylon underwear cut off all elastic and cut in two inch strips or pieces.

These pillows are the nicest, softest cushions we have ever had. I have many friends now saving nylon hose and underwear for this very purpose.

MARY BETH HERMANN. Ladies, the good thing about these pillows is they never sour, never mildew, they are extremely soft, may be pounded to fit any desired shape and are easily washed in your washing machine and dryer in a matter of minutes.

For people who do not have dryers just hang them on clothesline. Nylon is poreless.

Start saving your old nylons and all sorts of nylon underwear which is worn out. Don't throw them away, utilize them any way you can. HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I want to thank you for the vinegar cleaning hints. Here's to let you know that now I keep one bottle especially for food uses and another bottle especially for cleaning!

One thing I tried was removing "un-removable" stains from around my bathroom washbowl water faucets. Our washbowl is 40 years old. I wrapped white cloths from old sheets around the faucets and soaked them with vinegar and left it there, checking twice a day, for several days, and all of the stain disappeared.

MARY E. EDMINSON.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a little hint for an afternoon of fun and munching before Christmas. I let the children string popcorn and cranberries for our tree with a needle and thread. It's an old-fashioned thing that is really quite pretty when put on any tree.

We make paper chains out of Christmas wrapping paper. Especially the gold and silver type. The children love it and it keeps little idle minds and hands busy.

MARY HILLS.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you know that if you rub a little grease on your snow shovel, it not only prevents rust but also keeps the snow from sticking to the shovel?

HELPING HAND.

DEAR HELOISE: I use a piece of crumpled kitchen wax paper to wipe the hood over my stove and also the chrome in my kitchen. I find this keeps the chrome clean and sparkling and it can be done in a few minutes without using any polish.

Of course, if the chrome on the stove is spotted from cooking I go over it with a damp sponge first, wipe it dry and then use my wax paper. Sure puts a shine on.

ALWAYS LOOKING.

Civil Rights, Tax Bill Prospects Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP)—It has been nine days since President Johnson appeared before Congress to urge the quickest possible action on civil rights and tax cut bills as a tribute to the late President Kennedy.

He followed that appeal with a wide-ranging series of conferences, statements and telephone calls, all part of the technique he made famous in six years as Senate majority leader.

Has the result been to improve prospects for the two bills or to advance the time when final passage may be expected?

The answer appears to be that there is not much change, certainly not the dramatic improvement looked for by some avid supporters of the measures.

The timetable for Senate Finance Committee action on the $11 billion tax cut has been speeded up slightly. But the House Rules Committee still plans no sessions on civil rights until next month.

Before Kennedy's assassination, Democratic congressional leaders were strongly confident both bills eventually would become law, the tax bill without too much trouble but civil rights only after a bitter fight. They say the outlook is about the same now.

Senate leaders had given up hope for passage of the tax bill in their branch this year. This has proved realistic.

House leaders had been pushing for floor debate on civil rights in December. They redoubled their efforts under Johnson's prodding but the chances for any action before January now appear very slim.

Johnson has succeeded, however, in getting some more specific pledges of action from those in a position to hold up the bills. This may help prevent further delays.

Some legislators believe that he new president's extensive congressional experience may enable him to shape a successful compromise viewed as essential to win passage of civil rights. They point out he played this role in the angry debates over the 1957 and 1960 bills on the subject

NEW SUMMER WHITE HOUSE — This rambling stone and frame ranch house on the banks of the Pedernales River, near Johnson City, Tex., is the nation's newest summer White House. The LBJ ranch, scene of barbecues honoring people from all walks of life and from all over the world, suddenly took on new meaning for its owner, Lyndon B. Johnson, when he became the 36th President of the United States.

YW Fair Attracts Total of 2,000

Over 2,000 persons, including several hundred students of the senior and junior high schools and several classes of the elementary schools, attended the successful third annual two-day International Fair and Festival at the YWCA Wednesday and Thursday.

A buffet supper was served at 5 and 6:30 p.m. and the Slovakian Dances entertained an enthusiastic crowd during the evening session. Another feature of the evening entertainment was Kenny Koons and his "hootenanny" singing.

Mrs. Martin Lee Roth was chairman in charge of the arrangements for the event and among those who assisted were: Decorating, Mrs. R. J. McConor and members of the house committee; meals, Mrs. Franklin Henderson and members of the world fellowship committee; cultural displays, Mrs. Helen Myers, and the display of paintings and drawings was in charge of Mrs. Trevor Lewis.

U.S. District Court arraignment. A third man, whom the FBI identified as Edmund Eugene Flott of Columbus, was the object of a widespread manhunt. The FBI described Flott, a felon with a long criminal record, as armed and extremely dangerous.

The getaway was a comedy of errors and bad luck. After robbing the bank, the fugitives' getaway car wouldn't start. Two fled on foot, and the third — Flott, the FBI thinks — escaped in a stolen car. The car was found abandoned later about two miles from Zanesville.

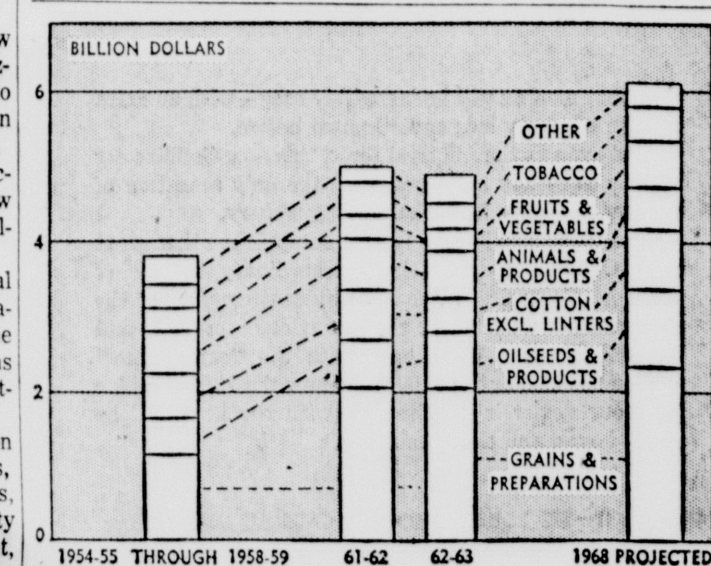

Authorities said that Brown had only a few hundred dollars on him when arrested. About $4,000 of the stolen loot was found in a field a few hours after the holdup.

PURCHASE EQUIPMENT

The Columbiana County commissioners Thursday purchased $236.40 worth of tuberculin testing materials from the Pan-ray-Parlam Corp. of New Jersey. The material will be used by the Columbiana County TB Control Clinic in school surveys.

The commissioners' next meeting will be Dec. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The commissioners will be in Columbus attending the state commissioners convention Monday through Thursday next week.

Only two United States mints remain in operation — Denver and Philadelphia. Coinage at the San Francisco mint stopped March 31, 1955.

U.S. EXPORTS CLIMBING — American farmers have been assured that markets will be waiting in the coming years for all the farm crops they can produce. Newschart prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture projects exports of farmers at a figure exceeding the $6 billion mark by 1968.

Mishaps

DeLuca, 17, of Glenwood Ave., Youngstown turned left into a restaurant and in front of the Salem auto.

The Canfield barracks of the State Highway Patrol cited DeLuca for failure to yield the right of way.

Damascus Women Hurt

Mrs. Marie Bye, 62, of Damascus suffered a fractured wrist and contusions of the left shoulder in a one-car mishap Thursday at 1 p.m. on Route 62, about two miles west of Salem. She was taken to Salem Central Clinic where she was treated and released.

The Lisbon barracks reported Mrs. Bye was traveling east when she came up from behind a stopped vehicle. Applying the brakes quickly, she went off the right side of the highway and rolled over. There was no contact between the Bye car and the one ahead. She was not cited.

Trucking company operator Mike Mercure, 54, of RD 1, New Waterford was taken to Salem City Hospital with multiple injuries after another one-car accident at 8:30 p.m. on County Rd. 421, eight-tenths of a mile west of Route 46. He is in fair condition with two broken ribs, broken collar bone and shoulder blade and contusions of the forehead.

Mercure was hurt when his auto left the road, returned to the opposite side and struck a fence on the property of Edward Hammersmith of the Middleton-New Waterford Rd. Mercure's car was moderately damaged. He was not cited.

A 17-year-old Columbiana girl escaped injury at 9 p.m. when her car overturned on Township Rd. 846, a tenth of a mile east of Route 644, near Summitville.

The Patrol said Sherry Ellen Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Eddy of 115 Court St., Columbiana was traveling west when her car went off the right side of the road and rolled over.

Santa Will Visit Lisbon on Saturday

LISBON — The annual visit of Santa Claus sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin Saturday at 2 p.m. with a parade through village streets.

The Jaycees have completed the installation of holiday lights in the village, and their wives have packed 2,000 treats to be handed out by Santa Saturday.

The parade will form at McKinley Grade School on E. Washington St. and move to the square for the program.

Glen Adams and Keith Cox, who broke his foot when he fell Wednesday evening while putting up Christmas lights, will be in charge of the parade.

British Call Girl Gets Prison Term

LONDON (AP) — Christine Keeler, female star of the sex scandal which almost wrecked a British government, pleaded guilty to charges of perjury and conspiracy today and was sentenced to nine months in prison.

Tears welled up in the eyes of the 21-year-old redhead as Judge Sir Anthony Hawke pronounced sentence in Old Bailey.

The maximum sentence for perjury could have been seven years imprisonment, while on the charge of conspiracy to subvert justice the sentence is left to the discretion of the judge.

Sir Anthony also imposed a six-month sentence on Christine but it will run concurrently with the longer term.

Her girl friend, Paula Hamilton — Marshall, 23, who also pleaded guilty, drew a six-month term.

Their housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brooker, 56, was placed on probation. She also had pleaded guilty to perjury and conspiracy.

The fourth defendant in the case, Jamaican Negro Rudolph Fenton, 39, pleaded innocent to the conspiracy charge. He was not accused of perjury.

In effect the three women admitted they conspired to frame a Negro ex-lover of Christine, Jamaican jazz singer Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, and then lying on the stand at Gordon's trial last June on charges of beating the call girl.

Gordon's three-year sentence was quashed by an appeal court after it heard a lengthy tape recording Christine had made in preparing her life story for publication. The police then arrested Christine and the other three and accused them of framing Gordon.

Day of Infamy

Nation To Mark Pearl Harbor Anniversary

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — A nation still mourning the death of its president pauses Saturday to remember another day of infamy — the bombing of Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

A gleaming white monument stands above the sunken battleship Arizona, the tomb for 1,102 men. Above the vessel an American flag flies at half mast.

There hasn't been much change since a year ago. A still-muffled and quiet, a contrast indeed to the hell that broke loose at 7:55 a.m. on this day 22 years ago.

On this Dec. 7, one thing is different from all anniversary days since the end of World War II.

It is the flag—at half mast for the first time this Pearl Harbor Day. The hundreds of people who cross the harbor to pay a brief tribute and drop a garland of flowers on the water will remember in their prayers one more young, dead American.

It is for him—a World War II Navy lieutenant who fought in the Pacific—that the flag flies low.

The man is John Fitzgerald Kennedy, victim of an assassin's bullet two weeks ago.

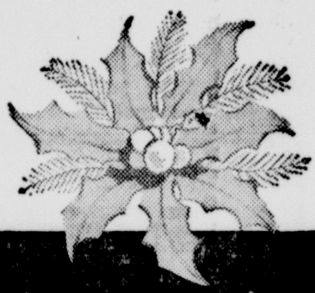

The Arizona — symbols of the 1941 Japanese bombing—is the only one of nine battleships attacked still in commission.

She is considered commissioned because the crew is still aboard. That is why the flag flies above the sunken vessel.

The Navy does not hold official ceremonies to mark Pearl Harbor Day. But to the men and women on the naval base, and to those on ships in port, Dec. 7 retains its deep significance. Many travel to the memorial independently to pay tribute to the 2,300 sailors, soldiers, Marines and civilians who died in a few nightmare hours.

According to a U.S. national group of fire underwriters, 11,800 persons died in fires during 1962 and property damage dollar losses rose to more than $1 billion.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Storyteller told how Nog, the Bugaboo, made a shambles of Santa Land and how Santa decided he couldn't keep him there any longer.

(Chapter Four) NOG COMES TO POO

The Storyteller stood up and stretched his legs. He stared for a long time into the fire as if he had forgotten the story he was telling. The children waited until golden-haired Sissy could stand it no longer.

"What did the Queen Fairy and Santa do with him?" she cried. "What did they do with old bad Nog?"

"They threw him out of Fairyland," said the Storyteller starting into the fire.

"Oh, my!" breathed Miss Jo. "That must have been AW-FUL!"

Yes, said the Storyteller. It had never been done before. No elf or fiend or witch or any other fairy creature had ever been expelled from the Magic Land of Make Believe. And Nog did not think the Fairy Queen would have the courage to do it to him.

BUT SANTA SAID to the Queen, "You must send him out of our world, take away all his rights and forbid him ever again to enter Storybook Land." "You can't do that!" shouted Nog.

"But I can," said the Queen, for she knew she had to or this one wicked creature would destroy all the good that fairies had done since time began. She waved her wand and said sadly, "I hereby expel you from my kingdom. Leave here and never return."

Nog turned on Santa and waved his fists. "It's all your doing!" he cried. "She would never have done it if it hadn't been for you!"

"It's your own doing, said Santa. "And perhaps you will be happier in another world."

"THIS is my world," shouted Nog. "And I'll be back one day and I, not you, will give the orders then. Mark my words!"

He stamped his foot three times to show his rage. Then he turned and marched away.

"Where did he go?" cried Miss Jo.

The Storyteller turned and stared at her as if he had just awakened from a long sleep. "What?" he asked.

"WHERE DID NOG GO?"

cried Sissy and Jeremy together.

"To the Kingdom of Poo," said the Storyteller.

"POO?" cried Jeremy.

"THE Poo?" exclaimed Sissy.

The Storyteller nodded. "The very same."

"He's here now?" gasped Sissy.

The Storyteller nodded again. The children huddled at his feet. Suddenly they felt cold and a shiver passed through them all.

Then Jeremy laughed and said, "But, it's only a story!" He took Miss Jo's hand and said, "Stop shaking. It's a story." Miss Jo laughed weakly and Sissy laughed and Jeremy said to the Storyteller, "Go on with the story."

Well, went on the Storyteller. Nog had left Santa Land and roamed all over the world looking for a place to settle. He was looking for a very special place because he thought of nothing but revenge and he needed time and room and privacy to work out his plans.

FINALLY he came to the Kingdom of Poo. The people here were businesslike and practical and they didn't bother much about spooks or magic or things like that. In fact, a lot of people in Poo didn't even believe in Santa Claus. This suited Nog just fine because what would such people care if someone they didn't believe in just stopped being?

Nog walked around Poo until he found a beaten-up, old house on Burning Tree Road. No one had lived in it for a hundred years. The doors were falling off and the roof was caved in and the front steps had crumbled away.

Nog moved into the house. To keep people away he hung a sign out front saying "This House is Haunted."

And it was, too.

VOTE STOCK SPLIT

CINCINNATI (AP) — Emery Industries, Inc., is increasing the number of shares of its common stock from 1.5 million to 5 million.

Stockholders voted for the split Thursday. Three additional shares for each outstanding share of Emery stock will be issued Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Jan. 6.

A Common Pleas Court jury deliberated only 90 minutes Thursday before returning a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Cora Ferrell of Wheelersburg in the Oct. 9 death of her son, Mark Anthony. Sentencing was delayed by Judge Earl E. Stephenson.

Authorities at first believed that Mark's death was a result of a fall from his bed, 18 inches from the floor. A coroner's inquest later showed, however, that two skull fractures had caused his death.

Mrs. Ferrell denied on the witness stand that she had struck the child across the head or face. She did admit that she had hit him on the buttocks with a "little board" about the size of a ruler in an attempt to train him to use a toilet chair.

She testified that she heard the child fall, then found him on the floor next to his bed. She said she noticed he had stiffened his legs but still placed him back in bed.

Her husband, Wilford, summoned the sheriff's deputies after returning home about 15 minutes later. He said it was too late then to help the baby.

Subsequent testimony in the four-day trial showed that in 1959 another of Mrs. Ferrell's children, 18-month-old Marty, had died at home.

Another 3-year-old child — a girl — was in a Portsmouth hospital with a fractured leg at the time of the investigation.

VERONICA, THEN AND NOW: For some, stardom, once achieved, is a never-fading element. Veronica Lake, top photo, returned to the theater with her popularity virtually unscathed by the passing years. In lower photo she spoofs herself as she was in her earlier star days.

The Fading Stars: (3)

Some Still Have That Old Magic

(Last of Three Dispatches.)

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK—(NEA) — Until the fall of 1963, it had been five years since Veronica Lake had made a public appearance. And it was 13 years since her last movie.

But the public never forgot the tiny beauty with the slim figure and cascading platinum hair. Far from it. She says that she was continually recognized wherever she went, even though time had made the inevitable changes in her lovely face.

Her case is worth examining, for she was perhaps the last person to get the Grade-A buildup in Hollywood. And she is proof that full-fledged stardom appears to be lasting. It's like an appendicitis scar; once you acquire it, it's yours forever.

"I was an overnight star," Miss Lake says. "I never had to struggle. After a very few bit parts, I did 'I Wanted Wings' with William Holden. I was a star the day that picture was released."

Eventually, she grew tired of the artificial life that, she says, she was forced to live.

"I quit Hollywood," she says, "when I realized I had to choose between being a human being and one of the living dead. I chose being a human being. I haven't been in the State of California since."

Actually, while Miss Lake quit stardom, stardom didn't quit her. She says that she continually had to turn down offers to return. She had to sign autographs wherever she went.

Over the past few years, the urge to return to acting has grown in her gradually. But she admits she was "scared." One day, young off-Broadway producer Arthur Whitelaw called her. He needed a replacement for his hit revival of "Best Foot Forward." He asked her what she looked like these days.

"I'm 40," said Miss Lake, with her usual candor, "but in a good light I look a few years younger."

THE RESULT OF the conversation was that Miss Lake returned to show business in "Best Foot Forward" and loved it.

The box office reflected the still-potent drawing ability of Miss Lake. Even though she is now a grandmother — "and proud of it; I'm better than Marlene Dietrich, because she only has one grandchild and I have two and I'm younger" — she is still beautiful.

"I'm told my shape is better now," she says. "I've been a mother. I was built something like a boy before. No more." Such are the stars who made it years ago—in the era when the silver screen was pure gold. The stars of today don't have the same staying power.

Do you think you'll remember Dorothy Provine 13 years after The Roaring 20s?

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Skiing Is Rigorous Sport

Skiing continues to be popular and boasts close to 1 million enthusiasts in the U. S. Yet it is estimated that four of every 1,000 skiers will spend from one to seven days in the hospital this winter.

Many will incur sprains chiefly of the ankles and knees or fractures of the long bones of the leg. Add to this a sprinkling of cuts, bruises and dislocations and you will have the debit side of the joyous picture.

Most accidents are due to poor physical condition and taking foolish chances. No sport can be profitably enjoyed on a part-time basis. If you make fitness a full-time program, you can enjoy tennis in the summer and skiing in the winter and sandwich a variety of other sports in between.

If, on the other hand, you let yourself go flabby from one skiing holiday to the next, you can expect to have more than your share of accidents. Then everyone will say you are accident prone — but that is just a poor alibi.

FOR THOSE WHO have let themselves get soft but who insist on skiing this winter a minimum of 10 weeks of vigorous reconditioning should precede the holiday.

Half-knee bends, raising up on your toes, walking on your toes, bending down and touching your toes, push-ups, and skipping rope are recommended.

You should also strengthen your thigh muscles by sitting on a high stool and lifting your legs to a horizontal position with gradually increasing weights attached to your ankles.

Don't consider yourself in trim until you can lift 35 pounds with either leg.

Skiing lessons from an expert are essential. Most accidents happen to beginners. And you will always be a beginner if you get your instruction from amateurs.

Q—I wear socks to bed but my mother says that is unhealthy. If I don't wear them I curl up in a ball to keep warm and have a hard time going to sleep. What do you think?

A—If you need socks to keep your feet warm in bed, by all means wear them. The only thing about it that would be unhealthy would be failure to change them often enough.

You should wear a different pair in the daytime. If you need to wear socks in bed when the weather is warm, you should have your doctor check you over to see why your circulation is not up to par.

Little Ordeal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Among life's little ordeals to men are those portable moving vans women carry today and call handbags.

You know what I'm talking about, don't you?

I mean those huge handbags that look like two fat alligators sewn together lengthways.

I mean those huge handbags that take up half the sidewalk as a woman strolls along and which, if they hit a man's knee-cap, will snap it like a match-stick.

I mean those huge handbags in which the modern woman packs more belongings than the average pioneer mother brought along in a covered wagon to settle the Old West.

It's a funny thing about women. When they dress up fancy to go out in the evening, they tote along in their paws sequined-covered bags tiny enough to have been made from the hide of a stunted mouse.

Everything else they stuff into the pockets of their male escort — until he looks from behind like a pair of ambulant saddle bags.

But by day they limp around town by themselves, getting more bent over by these vast handbags into which they seem to have thrust everything except what they need most—a sofa to lie down and rest on.

"I need it to carry the things I simply have to have with me," a wife usually whinnies. But if you try to peek inside, she'll snap it shut—at the peril of snipping off your nose.

Actually there isn't much mystery about the contents.

They are a cross between a hope chest, a drugstore counter, and a despair kit. They are a kind of Pandora's junk box.

They hold mints, chewing gum, unpaid bills, vitamin pills and aspirin tablets, matchbooks, a 712-page romantic novel, lipstick, tweezers, bandages, compact, unanswered letters, photographs of loved ones, pieces of wadded facial tissue.

They hold car keys, house keys, safe deposit box keys.

They also hold one thing at the very bottom of this jangle of debris. That's a small billfold or change purse containing their ready cash.

And that's where the trouble comes in. It usually takes a woman up to 10 minutes of frantic fumbling to find this purse and pay a restaurant bill.

She's holding up the march of progress. These big handbags must be costing the nation at least 10 million manhours of lost work a month.

SAVED CROP, TRACTOR

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP) — Fire fighting is a family affair with the Dewey Kuster Jr. family.

When a corn picking machine caught fire, Kuster drove it into a pasture to save the field of corn. Then the grass caught fire.

The Kusters and their children, 8, 10 and 12, beat it out before flames reached a new $7,000 tractor.

HOOP TALK

By . . . Double Dribble

Seasons Best my friends (and the rest of you too) Old D. D. is back to provide you with some of the latest info on Salem's roundball fortunes.

As you know, Salem is without the "Super Stars" they have had over some of the past seasons but they seem to be capable of playing Team basketball . . . which is of course the whole idea of the game. Mark my word (that's a pun) you'll see lots of exciting basketball from this young squad this season . . . and a winning team, too (of course I don't know which one will be the winner).

Salem's first game will be with the defending State Champs, Columbus East. This is a team that finished last year 25-1 and wants to repeat that record this year . . . or possibly 26-0. They have only one returning starter from last year . . . but what a return! 6 ft. 4 inch Center, Ed Waller, chosen 2nd string all Ohio in his Junior year. The rest of the squad will be filled in by boys who saw limited action last year and with a few from an undefeated reserve team. Although this team lacks the awesome power of the squad we saw here last year (75 to 49 we lost) they are no easy mark. HOWEVER, (in capital letters please) if the Quakers play the brand of ball they seem to be capable of (2 wins in preview and good showings in scrimmages) I think the boys from the Capitol City may be in for a tough ball game.

And now we go to the following

Dec. 7	Columbus East	H
Dec. 14	Parma Val. Forge	H
Dec. 20	Massillon	H
Dec. 26	Clev. Benedictine	H
Dec. 28	Akron North	H
Jan. 4	Alliance	H
Jan. 10	Warren	H
Jan. 11	Boardman	A
Jan. 17	Niles	A
Jan. 18	Dayton Roth	H
Jan. 24	Wellsville	A
Jan. 25	Akron South	H
Jan. 31	East Liverpool	H
Feb. 1	Steub. Big Red	A
Feb. 7	Toledo Scott	H
Feb. 8	Youngstown South	A
Feb. 14	Youngstown East	H
Feb. 15	Canton McKinley	A week. (time certainly flies doesn't it?) Furnishing the Opposition for the Quakers on December 14th will be Parma Valley Forge (unless we have another little gem of a blizzard) This team will be coached by John Broski, formerly of East Tech, and will be bolstered by 6 count 'em 6, returning lettermen. This outfit could very easily put a team on the floor that would read: 6'5," 6'4 " 6'2," 6'1," 6'1" and still have a lot of talent on the bench. Last year, Valley Forge was "out in the Cold" (another pun) as far as the season went . . . They finished with a 4 and 15 record . . . which isn't exactly the best in the world, and they will be out to prove that this is not the Standard of Valley Forge High School. Already owning one defeat, a 54 to 47 loss to Parma High, they will have 3 games under their belts by the time they get to Red and Black Hardwoods, which could have some bearing on the game (maybe they will be tired.) Well, nighty night for now . . . I must unpack you know I've been away for quite sometime.

Quakers To Test Powerful Columbus East In Opener

State Champs Have Four Lettermen Back

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

An indication of Salem's basketball chances this season will be given when the Quakers take on Columbus East in the opener at Salem Senior High gymnasium Saturday night.

Considered by sports writers the best team in Columbus again, the Tigers have one regular back, four other returning lettermen and several boys advanced from a championship reserve team.

In 1962-63, Coach Bob Hart led his team (25-1) to the Class AA state championship.

A starter from that powerhouse, Ed Waller, is back for another try for similar laurels. He is a 6-4 senior center with plenty of basketball know-how.

The second team All-Ohio selection is especially strong on both boards and is likely to score in double figures.

SLATED FOR forward duty are Jim Brown, 6-3; and Walter Byers, 6-0. Both are seniors and monogram winners.

Dick Tanner, 5-9 senior, is the playmaker. He, along with sophomore Gil Mathews, 6-0, gets the nod at the guard slots.

Coach John Cabas guided the Quakers through a final tuneup with a scrimmage against Akron East Tuesday.

At one point in the drill, the Red and Black fell behind by 18 points. Each quarter was 10 minutes long. Early in the fourth frame Salem cut the deficit to four, then lost by eight.

A pair of 6-6 athletes led the "Orientals" attack. When Salem was in position it took the play away from the visitor on both boards.

"I WAS PLEASED with the basketball Rick Gregg, George Begalla and Wayne Washington played during the workout," said Cabas.

"If Dean Keller and Chuck Joseph gain confidence, we will surprise a lot of teams this year," declared the coach.

He said Keller and Joseph might be trying too hard and appeared to be stiff. If they just relax, they'll help our team," commented Cabas.

Dennis Everhart, 6-2 junior, shows some improvement every day, according to the Quakers' mentor.

A SOPHOMORE UNIT which includes Rick Klepper, Doug Plastow, Jim Miller, Jim Lantz and Gary Stoddard will probably get to see some action.

The underclassmen have shown great promise ever since practice began early in November, and the group has displayed hustle, desire and good attitude.

Begalla, 5-10, who saw limited varsity action last year; Gregg, 5-9; Keller, 5-9; Washington, 5-10; and Everhart are the probable starters.

Karl Zellers, assistant coach, will send his junior varsity after its first victory of the campaign in the lid-lifter against Youngstown Ursuline reserves at 7 p.m.

Jerry Wolman Buys Philadelphia Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Boysish-looking, 36-year-old Jerry Wolman has bought the Philadelphia Eagles for $5,505,500, furthering the trend of young millionaires taking control of National Football League teams.

Subject to approval of the NFL, Wolman, a Washington contractor, will join such young owners as Art Modell of Cleveland, Dan Reeves of Los Angeles, Clint Murchison of Dallas, the Bidwill brothers of St. Louis and Clay Ford of Detroit.

Another trend is toward single ownership. The sale of the Eagles Thursday by 65 stockholders leaves only Green Bay and Minnesota as teams owned by large groups of stockholders.

"Ever since I was a kid and hitchhiked from Shenandoah, Pa., (his native town), to Philadelphia to see the Eagles play, I wanted to own this team," Wolman said.

He reportedly is worth more than $30 million made by building apartments and office buildings. He owns the National Theater building in Washington and the Raleigh Hotel. He said he expects to move to Philadelphia once the purchase is approved.

USC's Damon Bame Is Only Repeater

3 Quarterbacks Named In Backfield On 1963 All-American Football Team

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Three quarterbacks including miraculous Midshipman Roger Staubach, a gritty little man, and a part-time teacher join returnee Damon Bame on the 1963 Associated Press All-America football team.

Staubach won the Heisman Trophy as the College Player of the Year. With Saturday's game against Army remaining, he has accounted for 1,738 yards passing and running.

This was the year of the quarterback.

Jimmy Sidle, who guided once-beaten Auburn to an Orange Bowl trip, and Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's "Do it Yourself" exponent, were the other field generals picked on the recommendations of eight regional boards. The sports writers and broadcasters took into account all games through Nov. 30.

Sherman Lewis, a 154-pound Michigan State Springer, completes the backfield.

Line Averages 225 Pounds

A line averaging 225 pounds features Dame, rated a better guard than a year ago when he spurred Southern California's national champions.

End Dave Parks of Texas Tech, first man picked in the National Football League draft, is paired with Bob Lacey of North Carolina.

Scott Appleton, a 235-pounder who has been practicing teaching at an Austin elementary sometimes crashed into linemen 100 pounds heavier, Lewis never missed a game in three varsity seasons and always was a threat to break open a contest at any moment.

He turned in five runs of over 80 yards this season.

Parks was grabbed by the San Francisco 49ers in the NFL draft and may be used as a defensive back.

North Carolina wouldn't give Lacey a football scholarship at the outset until he earned it, which took almost no time at all.

Appleton, a middle guard on defense and weak side tackle in Texas's flip-flop offense, is a big reason the Longhorns have lost only twice since he became a varsity head knocker.

Eller capped a brilliant season in the 13-0 victory over Wisconsin during which he led a great goal line stand at the one, deflected a pass to a teammate for an interception, caught a tackle eligible pass and generally made life miserable for Badger quarterbacks.

Brown is the team's big man at 269 pounds. He wears out a pair of six 14½-E shoes per game and caves in a helmet almost as often.

Three area backfield stars, Ohio University's Jim Albert of Canfield, Ohio State's Paul Warfield of Warren, and Youngstown's Jim Cunningham of Bowling Green, made the All-American honorable mention list.

Warfield was the Cleveland Browns' No. 1 draft choice at the NFL draft recently.

Tiger Rated Favorite To Retain Title

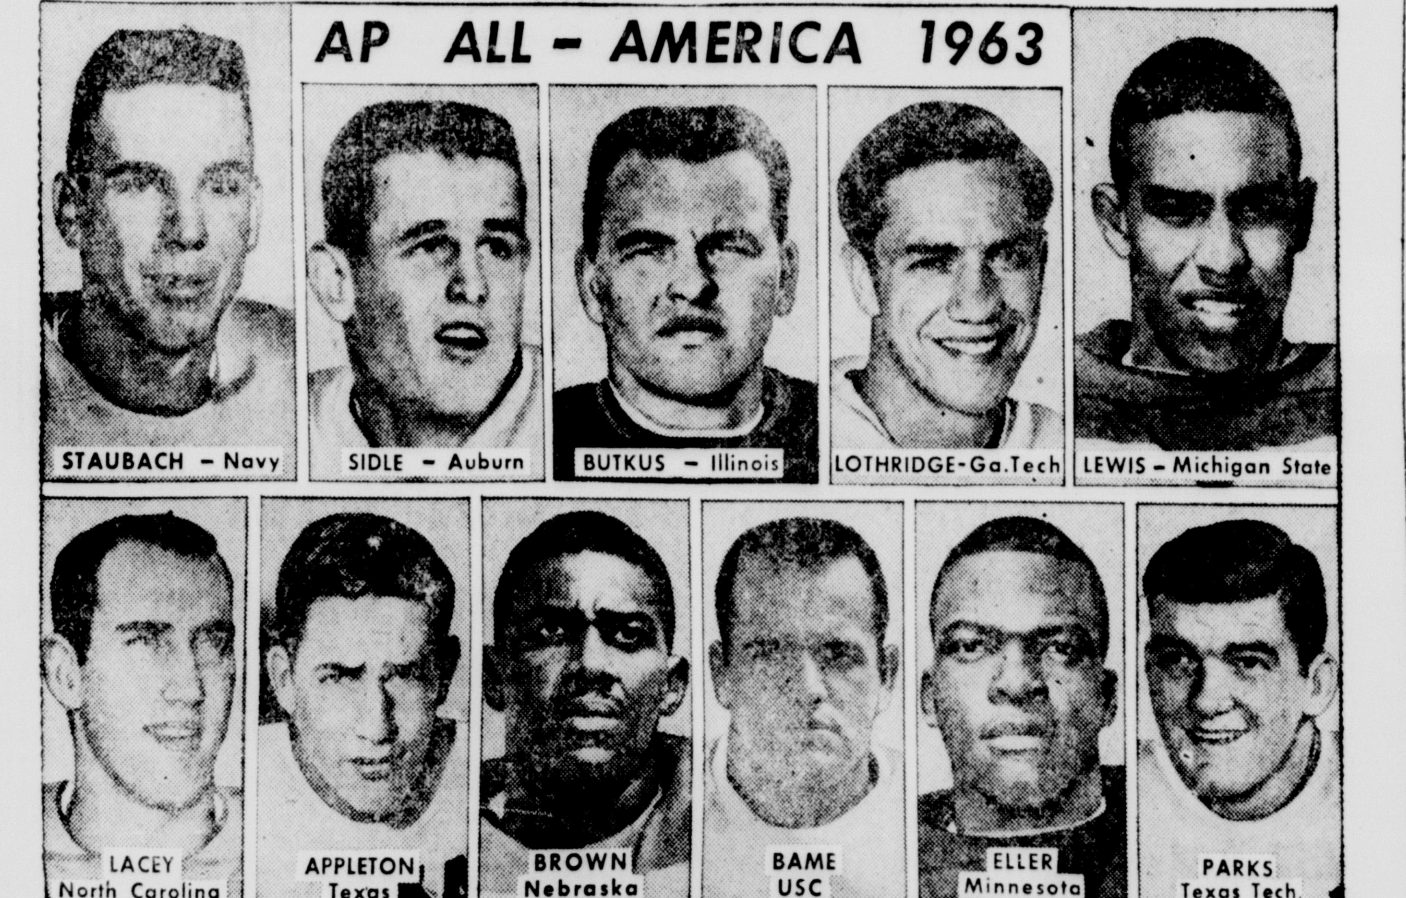

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Dick Tiger, a pressure fighter with intense pride in his role as world middleweight boxing champion, rates a solid favorite to turn back the challenge of confident Joey Giardello in their title match Saturday at Convention Hall.

When Tiger and Giardello split two decisions in 1959, they were eager young contenders for the crown claimed by both Sugar Ray Robinson and Gene Fullmer. Now Tiger is the boss.

Having disposed of Fullmer in three matches, he is ready to give Giardello his chance.

"If Tiger wants to fight me he has to come and get me," Giardello said during the long training siege. Tiger was properly upset.

"How do you like that?" The champ asked in his precise sing-song English. "The challenger is telling me how he is going to win my title. As the champion I have a lot to lose. Joey has no I have a lot to lose. Joey has no I have a lot to lose. Joey has no

Philadelphia Gets Triandos, Bunning

Phils Trade Demeter For 2 Detroit Stars

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Major league traders paused for breath today but several additional deals may follow the four already made before the inter-league trading period ends on Dec. 15.

It would be no surprise if a couple were completed before the winter league meetings came to an end late today with a joint major league session.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who swung the first inter-league trade of the year Thursday acquiring pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos from Detroit for outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton, spent several hours attempting to woo right-handed hitting outfielder Tommy Harper from Cincinnati.

Phils' Manager Gene Mauch, who admitted he needed a right-handed hitting outfielder to replace the departed Demeter, as well as a third baseman, also sought to pry Woody Held loose from Cleveland. Held can play third or any one of the outfield positions.

The Reds appeared willing to let Harper, a 23-year-old who batted .260 in 129 games last season, go to the Phils but demanded Jack Baldschun, the ace relief pitcher, in return. Baldschun, a tireless right-hander, appeared in 65 games last season, posted an 11-7 record and turned in a 2.25 earned run average. The 27-year-old Ohioan has appeared in 197 games in the last three years.

Manager Birdie Tebbets of the Indians also huddled with Johnny Pesky, Boston pilot, as the two tried to wrap up a deal involving Red Sox outfielder Lu Clinton and Indians' catcher John Romano.

Romano, who hit 25 home runs on a .261 batting average in 1962, slumped to .216 with only 13 home runs last season for Cleveland. Clinton also did a fading act in 1963, sliding from .294 to .232. He hit 22 home runs however, four more than the previous year.

The Kansas City Athletics, who swung two big deals, a couple of weeks before the meetings, are seeking to make a third. This time their target is Jim Landis, fleet-footed Chicago White Sox centerfielder. They offered relief ace John Wyatt but, according to White Sox Manager Al Lopez, the offer was rejected by Chicago.

Landis, 29, batted .225 in 133 games for the White Sox, hitting 13 home runs. Wyatt, a strong 28-year-old right-hander pitched in 63 games for the A's last season. His 3.13 ERA and 6-4 won and lost record stamped him as one of the league's best firemen.

The White Sox, seeking a first baseman, made a bid for Los Angeles Dodgers' Bill Skowron. They reportedly offered veteran second baseman Nellie Fox and relief pitcher Frank Baumann. Skowron, however, reportedly is bound for Washington's Senators to whom he had been promised last August when the Dodgers acquired Utility infielder Marv Breeding for the $20,000 waiver price and sold relief pitcher Ed Roebuck to the Senators through the same route.

Buzzie Bavasi, Dodger general manager refused to comment but a Dodger official said Bavasi has informed the reluctant Skowron he would not call off the deal because he had given his word to Washington general manager George Selkirk and field leader Gil Hodges.

Minnesota and Kansas City, seeking left-handed relief help, were interested in Billy Pierce, the veteran southpaw recently given his unconditional release by the San Francisco Giants.

Columbiana, Lisbon, Leetonia Open Seasons Tonight

Columbiana and Lisbon will open their basketball seasons at home tonight, while Leetonia travels to get the campaign underway.

Springfield goes to Columbiana and should provide a stern test for Coach Rich Berryman's aggregation. The Tigers have a 1-1 record.

Lisbon, with a veteran senior lineup, will take on a weak, rebuilt Wellsville squad. The Bears, with only one letterman back, are at North Lima.

A speedy, scrappy Columbiana crew will be smaller than Springfield Local.

BERRYMAN, STARTING his 12th year as coach of the Clippers, plans to start lettermen Fred Gosney, 6-2 senior at center; Rick Perrin, 6-2 senior and Phil Burbeck, 6-1 junior at forwards; Jim Ward, 5-11 senior; and Alan Wise, 5-10 junior up from the reserves, at guards.

Gosney, a fine hurdler for the Clippers track squad, is inconsistent, according to his coach. "He plays exceptionally well one session, then the next time he doesn't look as impressive," says Berryman.

Ward, who has run the 100-yard dash in 9.7 may be the key to the Clippers' fast-break offense. He has won two previous letters in basketball. "Springfield Local will be one of the strongest opponents on our schedule," declared Berryman. Three of them are Jim Mason, 6-3; Ron Sonedecker, 6-2; and Bill Bloomingdale, 6-1.

OTHER BOYS LIKELY to see action for Columbiana are Duane Spiker, 6-1 senior guard; Eric Keck, 5-11 junior guard; and Dick Hutton, 5-11 senior forward.

Columbiana participated in scrimmages with West Branch, Boardman, Berea and Wellsville in preparing for the Tigers. The Clippers are a member of the Tri-County League.

Berryman rates Minerva as having a slight edge to garner the loop title, but pointed out that the league would have more balance this season for the first time in several years. LISBON, NOT CONSIDERED a real threat in the league, may be the darkhorse. Coach Gary Pike has five letterman and all of them are seniors and probable starters.

Beginning his fifth year at the helm, Pike may have the tallest team the Blue Devils have had in several years.

He said, "If the taller boys come through, we can have a successful season." Last year Lisbon finished with a 14-4 record.

Lisbon's probable starters for the opener Friday include David McPherson, 6-3; David Rose, 6-1; Larry Webber, 6-3; Gary Peruchetti, 6-1½; and Charles Yoos, 6-4. Other boys slated for action are Tim Bucher, 5-9 junior; Scott Carlisle, 5-11 senior; and Paul McGaffie, 6-0 junior.

The Blue Devils have been working on a fast-break offense and in scrimmages against Canfield, Beaver Local and Woodrow Wilson, the Lisbon coach was impressed with his squads hustle and desire.

"Columbiana and Minerva are the teams to beat in the league, declared Pike, even Louisville is strong."

COACH LEN BATCHA is rebuilding Leetonia around George Zepernick, 6-4 senior center who led the Bears in rebounds and was the units second highest scorer last season.

Lost through graduation were Henry Nemenz, Paul Conrad, Frank Guerrier, Jay Holloway, Jon Holloway and Steve Brable.

A six-year coaching veteran at Leetonia, Batcha plans to fill the remaining starting positions with juniors Dennis Holloway, Melvin Van Fossan, Doug Hauer and Charles.

Added support may come from Jim Rance, 6-2; and Dave Conrad, 6-1, up from the undefeated freshman squad of last year.

"ALTHOUGH WE LACK the varsity-experienced player, this year's fairly sized squad has shown a great deal of enthusiasm and desire to win which gives me reason to hope for bettering last year's record," said Batcha.

The Bears compiled a 10-8 mark during the 1962-63 campaign. Leetonia is also a member of the Tri-County loop.

Detroit Bolstered By 300-Pound Tackle Brown

Browns' Coach Collier Rates Lions' Defensive Squad "Solid"

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns will face a defensive unit which Coach Blanton Collier rates as "solid all the way—front four, line-backers and defensive backs," when the Browns meet the Detroit Lions Sunday.

The Detroit defense, says Collier, is very aggressive. "The Lions blitz as much or perhaps even more than St. Louis," the coach observed. "One or two linebackers are sent after the passer about 50 per cent of the time."

One standout in the Detroit defense is Roger Brown, 300-pound, 6-foot-5 tackle who is surprisingly agile for a big man.

Brown, rated one of the finest defensive linemen in the National Football League, had a good day against the Green Bay Packers Thanksgiving Day. The Detroit coaches hope this signals a strong season finish for the former Maryland State line-man, who has had some bad days this year.

John Wooten, who faces Brown, is two inches shorter and 50 pounds lighter. It is possible that Ted Connolly may also get a shot at the Detroit behemoth, although Connolly is about 10 pounds lighter than Wooten.

Also on the Detroit line will be Floyd Peters, whom the Browns traded to Detroit last spring for Ken Webb. Peters, an aggressive tackle, will be out to show that the Browns made a mistake in that trade.

Joe Schmidt, the Lions' veteran linebacker and signal caller, was idled for about a month earlier in the season with a fractured collarbone, but he has played in two games now and should be near top physical condition.

Two other defensemen who were sidelined earlier by injuries are Yale Lary and Dick Lane. Both were back in action against Green Bay and contributed to a strong defensive effort as Detroit tied the Packers.

Big 10 Schools Plan To Give 70 Scholarships

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten, striving for athletic economy in the face of mushrooming educational costs, today began operating on a maximum of 70 sports scholarships — including 30 for football—per school.

The conference leaders Thursday formally adopted the new financial aid limitation plan which undercuts a previous maximum of 80 grants since 1961 and an allowable 100 from 1957 until 1961.

The policy - making faculty representatives allowed a little leeway in year-to-year recruiting for football and basketball. Each school now will be permitted to bank five football and two basketball tenders for one year.

This means a school could grant 25 football scholarships one year and 35 the next year. In basketball, the new rule provides six grants per year, but a school could recruit four cagers one year and eight the next year.

For all other sports, each school can issue 34 scholarships but without any specific quotas per sport.

Commissioner Bill Reed conceded the new financial aid program may not achieve expected economy, but said it indicated the need for shooting the gap of varsity sport budget problems.

"At least one school is considering a ticket price increase next football season," said Reed.

"Considering the recent tremendous increases in ticket prices for other forms of public attractions, the college football price still is the best bargain," he added.

The average Big Ten football popularly-priced ticket costs $5.

INAUSPICIOUS BEGINNING DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — John A. Johnson is director of health, physical education and athletics for the Des Moines Public Schools.

He had been asked to appear before a meeting of the school board. His first words before he presented a report on the progress of the physical fitness program in the schools were: "You folks don't mind if I sit down, do you?"

2 Service Teams Set For 64th Grid Clash

Navy Favored To Whip Army In Annual Classic Saturday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There was a grim "We will win" determination about the Army football team that moved into this City of Brotherly Love today for its 64th game with heavily-favored Navy.

"We are fighting for our lives," said tight-lipped Paul Dietzel, coach of the West Pointers. "I have never seen a bunch of boys so eager and so intent before a big game. They are really high."

The young Army coach shrugged off the 11-point odds, favoring the sensational Roger Staubach and his Annapolis cohorts, No. 2 ranked nationally and probably headed for the Cotton Bowl in Dallas if they can pull off their ninth victory in 10 games this year.

"I never went into a game I expected to lose," Dietzel said, throwing down the gauntlet to Navy's Coach Wayne Hardin. Hardin didn't flinch.

"We have a lot of respect for Army—it is a fine defensive team," he said. "But we think we are the No. 1 team in the country. We want to prove it." The Midshipmen may get their chance Saturday.

Army and Navy clash at 1:30 p.m. EST in the vast Municipal Stadium, scene of many an exciting and star-spangled thriller in the past, with 100,000 watching from the stands, millions of others from TV screens and Cotton Bowl representatives looking on from the wings.

The game will be nationally televised by CBS, starting at 1:15 p.m.

A Navy triumph is certain to bring a bid—and prompt acceptance—for the second-ranked Middies to play No. 1 and unbeaten Texas at Dallas on New Year's Day.

Few games between the two service academies have created the tensions surrounding this one, which will be staged in a somber atmosphere out of deference to the late commander-in-chief, President John F. Kennedy.

Christmas All Year Just Touch A Button

Luxury, comfort, and convenience at a touch of a button make the Berry Automatic Garage Door Operator, now on display at Peoples Lumber Co., an ideal gift for business acquaintances, friends, and family. It features a step-saving, portable transmitter that will open and close the garage door effortlessly from the comfort of your car.

One of the many advantages pointed out by Peoples Lumber is the elimination of entering a dark, unlighted garage; a favorite spot for lurking prowlers. The Berry Operator automatically turns on the garage light at the same time it opens the door. This provides an extra margin of safety, especially for women, or merchants and professional men who may carry large sums of money or valuables.

Another very practical feature is that of weather protection. A Berry Operator ends the unpleasantness of getting out of your car to open the garage door in wind, rain, sleet or snow. Just drive in, touch the transmitter button in your car and shut out the foul weather behind you. No more ruined clothes, wet feet, or even wind-blown hair-dos.

Berry Automatic Operators, made by the world's leading manufacturers of residential garage door and garage door operators, are also wonderful for the elderly, disabled, or ailing. All of the unnecessary strain and unpredictable hazards of physically opening and closing the garage door are removed. It is completely safety-engineered to gently stop the door when contact is made with any person or obstruction that may be in the way.

The Berry Automatic Operator is designed to fit most any type overhead, single or double track type garage door, and can even be installed by the homeowner in as little as 30 minutes.

"Why have Salem Area families pinned the blue ribbon on me, O. Howie Hustles, the Salem News Classified Ad?"

"That's an easy question. It's because I make them money, save them time and solve many of their problems. And I'll do it for you too.

"You'll agree it's hard to find a fellow like me, because I work day and night (weekends too) putting advertisers in touch with just the right people. I bring tenants to people with places to rent, workers to the companies that need help, and buyers galore for families and businesses that have things to sell. I find lost pets and valuables, bring borrowers to people with money to spare, and dig up people to buy businesses, farms, homes and even tents! I make announcements like crazy, and even get "personal" in "Personals" if you say so.

"You're probably thinking that a guy as talented and versatile as I am costs a lot to hire . . . but the pleasant fact is my services are as economical as they are varied, and I come in any size you choose. Junk Yard Burglary Near Lisbon Probed

LISBON — Burglars early yesterday took two cases of motor oil, a half barrel of brass, three-quarters barrel of copper, burning torches and hoses from the Morris Prezant Auto Wrecking Co., just south of Lisbon on Route 164, according to to Chief Deputy Robert Beresford.

The theft was discovered Thursday morning when Mr. Prezant came to work and found his storage shed had been ransacked. Entry was made by breaking window.

The thieves then took the barrels and torches and hoses out the door and loaded it on a truck or car, Beresford said.

In Arabic mythology "jinni" is the general term for supernatural beings below the level of angels and devils.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

I just got back from a little trip to Sioux City, Iowa. We were out looking for antiquities. Galen Elser, his father used to be the sheriff of Mahoning County, was with me. He was interested in getting an antique airplane out there but its condition was not as good as he expected so we left that there.

At a restaurant out there I told one of the waitresses it was our first visit to this city and we were looking for the Sioux City Sue we had heard so much about. She told us we were about 30 years too late.

Christmas is the season for giving. There is no greater gift you can give than to come to the Elks now and give a pint of blood. We need 125 pints to assure our keeping the free blood program. If you forgot to make an appointment, its all right, come out to the Elks now and help someone live.

ENTERS INNOCENT PLEA
 CLEVELAND (AP) — Robert M. Corry of Gallion pleaded innocent in U. S. District Court Thursday to charges of evading payment of $11,413 claimed due on his income taxes for 1956, 1957 and 1958.

The government charged that Corry, a Democratic candidate for congress in Ohio's 8th District in 1956, reported total income of $21,556 for the three years and that he earned a total of $59,938. The taxes should have been $16,453 instead of $5,039 as reported by Corry, the Internal Revenue Service said.

FIGHT 4-ALARM FIRE

 Ten persons were routed from their apartments in the 2½-story frame buildings. No injuries were reported.

JUST WHAT IS A "LISTED" STOCK?

Before a stock can be bought or sold on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange the company initially must meet Exchange standards in such areas as earning power, assets and the distribution of its stock.

Also, a company must agree, among other things, to report regularly on its financial condition.

Not all listed companies, of course, continue to prosper. We'll be glad to give you information about listed securities and to help you choose the kinds that you feel may meet your circumstances and goal.

Right now, send the coupon for "INVESTMENT FACTS" — a useful booklet giving the records of more than 400 listed stocks that have paid cash dividends every quarter for 20 years or more.
